In December 2000, APP were appointed to the role of Project Manager for Honeysuckle Development Corporation's Merewether Wharf Repairs and Remediation Project.

The project involved remediation of a highly contaminated harbourside site, earmarked for part of the new "Honeysuckle" precinct on the Newcastle harbour foreshore.

APP's role included:

- Acting as Superintendent's Representative and Contract Manager under AS 2124;
- Managing time, cost and quality deliverables project and management reporting to the client;
- Assessment and approval of Contractor's quality, safety and environmental plans, ITP's, work method statements and associated documents.

The project required the removal of 4500 tonnes of hydrocarbon contaminated material from site, treatment of groundwater contaminated with free and dissolved product, validation of site groundwater, and provision a site audit statement for subdivision/development of the site. Structural repairs were also undertaken to the wharf support structures during remediation works to ensure the required design life.

APP's experience in contaminated site remediation and infrastructure projects meant that realistic programs meeting the client's strict requirements were developed and realised.

APP's specialist knowledge of contaminated site remediation combined with our infrastructure experience enabled us to provide extensive strategic advice during the project.
