Australia Pacific Projects (APP) was commissioned to project manage the construction of a new manufacturing facility on a Greenfield site for Linde Gas.

The project involved extensive earthworks, services infrastructure and a number of individual buildings and structures, including a new testing laboratory.

The major benefit to the Client was through APP's management of the highly complex and onerous approval processes required by both Council and the Department of Planning. This process involved numerous reports, studies and audits, and the requirement for extensive liaison and negotiation before, during and post completion.
